Unit Theme: Major Messianic Prophecies
December 1, 2024 (Lesson 1)

JESUS' ANCESTRY AND PRIESTHOOD

1. The Seed of the Woman (Genesis 3:6-15; Luke 2:1-14)
2. Descendant of Abraham (Genesis 12:1-3; Matthew 1:1-17)
3. In the Order of Melchizedek (Genesis 14:17-20; Psalm 110:4; Hebrews 7:11-17, 26-28)

Central Truths: Jesus' prophesied ancestry and priesthood highlight the power and fulfillment of God.

Focus: Highlight the prophesied ancestry and priesthood of Jesus and trust God's fulfillments.

Evangelism Emphasis: Jesus' fulfillment of prophecy proves He is the Son of God and the Savior of all.

Golden Text: "Thou [Jesus] art a priest for ever after the order of Melchizedek" (Hebrews 7:17).

There are many who would say the story of Jesus Christ begins in the New Testament. The book of Matthew is where we first read about the birth, life, and ministry of Jesus of Nazareth. However, as Christians who believe the Bible is the inspired Word of God, the story of Jesus does not begin in the New Testament, for His story is the story of the Gospel, which begins in the Old Testament. The first thirty-nine books of the Bible, which comprise the Old Testament, reveal God's plan of redemption for humanity through history.

The story arc of the Bible takes place over 2,100 years, with the New Testament covering the last 100 years. This means if we only read the New Testament, it would be like reading the last chapter of a lengthy novel or watching the last movie of a six-movie sequel (such as Lord of the Rings or Star Wars). We cannot fully grasp or appreciate the plot, history, and character development, or the significance of events of a story by merely reading the final chapter or watching a last movie. In the same way, we cannot truly appreciate the significance of Jesus the Christ without understanding why He came and the messianic expectations of the people of Israel. This unit will explore major messianic prophecies of the Old Testament. By studying them, we can begin to grasp the redemptive story of the entire Bible, with Jesus at its center.

1. THE SEED OF THE WOMAN
A. Grace Prophesied (Genesis 3:6-15)

"And when the woman saw that the tree was good for food, and that it was pleasant to the eyes, and a tree to be desired to make one wise, she took of the fruit thereof, and did eat, and gave also unto her husband with her; and he did eat." And the eyes of them both were opened, and they knew that they were naked; and they sewed fig leaves together, and made themselves aprons.

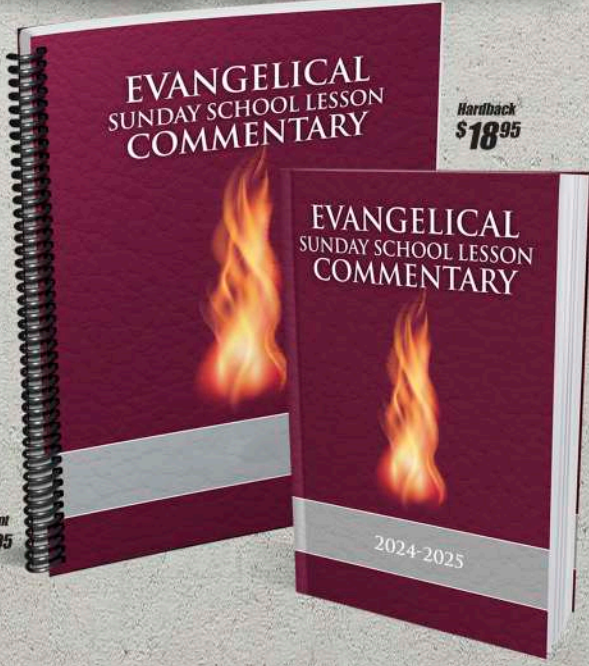

"And the Lord God said unto the serpent, Because thou hast done this, thou art cursed above all cattle, and shalt creep on thy belly; and thou shalt eat dust all the days of thy life: And I will put enmity between thee and the woman, and between thy seed and her seed; it shall bruise thy head, and thou shalt bruise his heel."

The disobedience of Adam and Eve led to the fall of the human condition (vs. 6-7). In humanity's desire to become like God, they became inhuman. Initially, God had said, "Let us make mankind in our image, in our likeness, so that they may rule over the fish in the sea and the birds in the sky, over the livestock and all the wild animals, and over all the creatures that move along the ground" (1:26 NIV). In other words, Adam and Eve were already like God, because God made them in His image. However, the serpent deceived Adam and Eve to believe he knew more and better than the consistent and benevolent God. In succumbing their obedience to the serpent, the knowledge they received when they ate of "the tree of the knowledge of good and evil" (2:17) was of their own pride and shame.

In learning of their nakedness, Adam and Eve felt the shame of being completely exposed before their Creator for their disobedience (3:7). As God walked through the Garden of Eden, He noticed something was wrong in Adam and Eve's behavior; they were hiding. When God called out to Adam, he responded with the shame that accompanied his new knowledge (vs. 9-10). When God continued to ask questions, Adam deflected the attention from himself to Eve, failing to take responsibility for his part of the disobedience (vs. 11-12). When Eve responded, she pointed to the serpent and did the same (v. 13). God refused to give the serpent the opportunity to speak, and He proceeded to explain the consequences for their act of disobedience upon themselves and the world around them. However, when God did this, Adam and Eve discovered not only God's judgment, but also His grace.

When God cursed the serpent for deceiving Adam and Eve, He also provided hope for humanity (vs. 14-15). This passage is famously known as the protoevangelium, meaning "the first (or even) mention of the good news (evangelium) of God's plan of redemption for humanity." The struggle between the seed of the woman and the serpent revealed the ongoing battle that would occur within humanity for generations to come. However, God promised to bring victory over Satan and death through the birth of the Messiah—a promise that would be fulfilled centuries later through Jesus Christ.
